

Report on the sit and write essay competition organized on 7th January, 2025 and on “Republic Day Celebrations in India” and the webinar on “The Indian Republic: An Assessment of Unity in Diversity” in collaboration with West Bengal Political Science Association (WBPSA) on 30th January, 2025 delivered by Prof. Jitendra Sahoo, Department of Political Science, Gour Banga University organized by the Department of Political Science, SPCMC

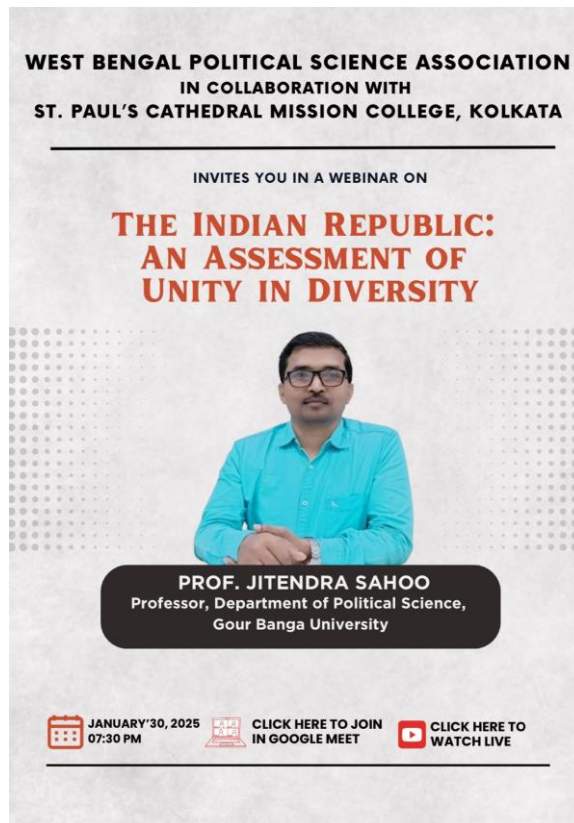

The Department of Political Science commemorated the 76th Republic Day, by organizing a sit and write essay competition on 7th January 2025 on Republic Day Celebrations in India and followed it with a webinar on “The Indian Republic: An Assessment of Unity in Diversity” in collaboration with West Bengal Political Science Association (WBPSA) on 30th January 2025 delivered by Prof. Jitendra Sahoo, Department of Political Science, Gour Banga University.

These two events were organised to make our students aware of the nation’s milestone. Our major students participated enthusiastically and pledged to commit their lives to nation-building in their small ways.

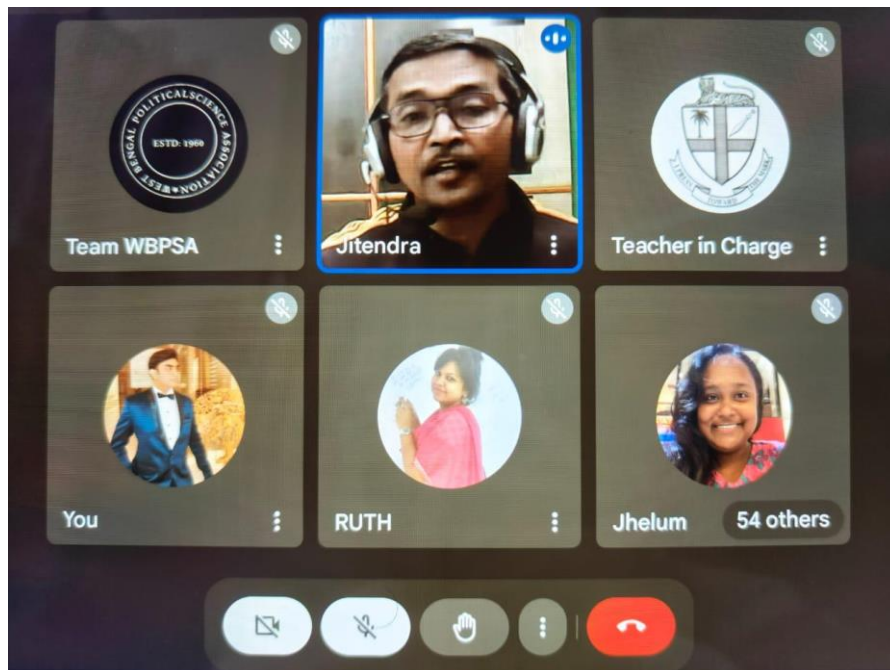

Picture Gallery-

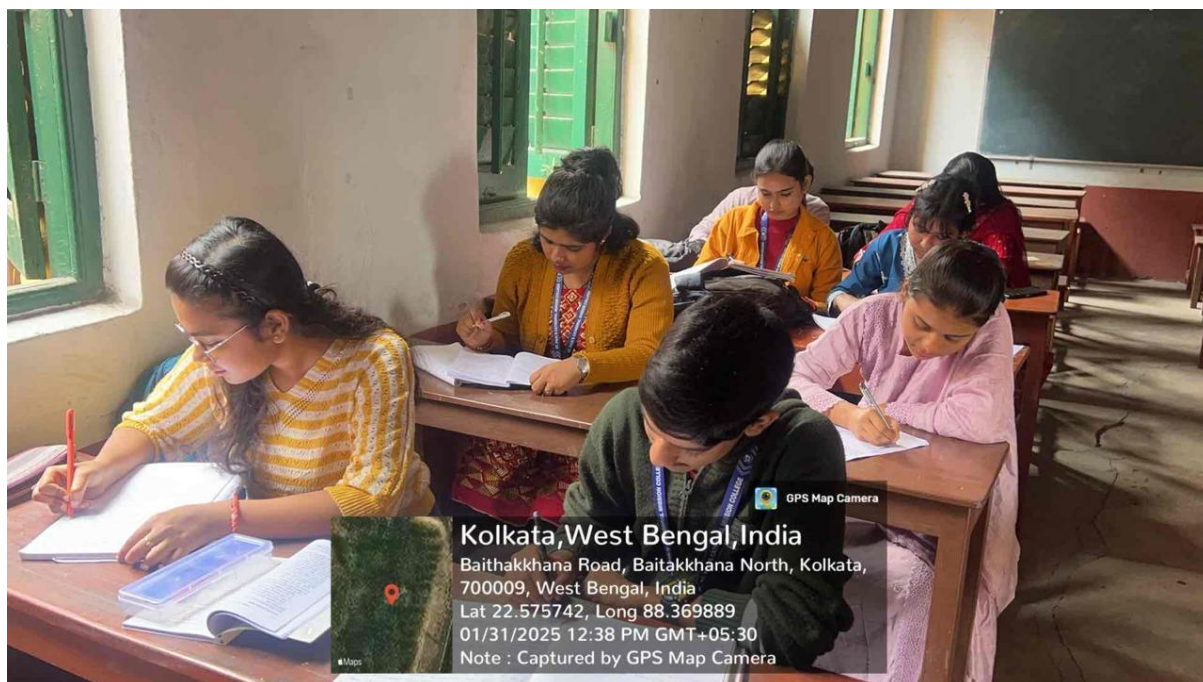

The poster for the sit-and-write essay competition

The poster for the webinar on “The Indian Republic: An Assessment of Unity in Diversity” delivered by Prof. Jitendra Sahoo, Department of Political Science, Gour Banga University

Prof. Sahoo delivering the lecture

The students participating in the sit-and-write essay competition

Md. Israfil is receiving the prize for winning the essay competition from the Teacher-in-Charge, Dr. Sudipta Midday

Paroma Mukherjee receiving a prize from Prof. Mausumi Mukhopadhyay

Anwesha Roychowdhury receiving a prize from Prof. Paramjit Kumar Pandit

The prize winners with the Teacher-in-Charge, Dr. Sudipta Midday, Prof. Mausumi Mukhopadhyay, Prof. Ruth Rhea Khan, Prof. Jhelum Ghosh, and Prof. Paramjit Kumar Pandit