

VARIOUS DEPARTMENTAL PROGRAMMES:

1. STUDENT SEMINARS:

Student's seminars are held in the department every year on a regular basis for encouraging and grooming students, keeping in mind their future progress. Normally the department selects a topic and students are given the freedom to decide the areas and themes on which they want to deliver lectures. The faculty members are always available to groom them for the said presentation. About 6 to 8 students are selected by the department for the final presentation. A judge, either from outside the college or from a different department, is selected for judging their presentation. Normally 3 prizes are given to the students as tokens of appreciation and encouragement.

On 10th. May 2022 such a seminar was held to commemorate Satyajit Ray's Birth Centenary. 8 students presented their paper on this occasion

Another webinar was held on June 5th 2024 to commemorate bicentenary of Michael Madhusudan Dutta. 6 students presented their paper on various aspects of Madhusudan Dutta's literary activities.

3. ADD ON COURSE:

ADD ON COURSE ARRANGED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF BENGALI FROM 15/9/2023 TO 5/10/2023

Name of the course: 'PRACTICAL & CREATIVE WRITING IN BENGALI LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE'.

DURATION: 15 CLASSES EACH OF 2 HOURS.

OBJECTIVES AND AIM OF THE COURSE: The fifth largest spoken language of the world is supposed to be Bangla or Bengali. Many students of the college opt for Bengali Major or Minor in their UG-syllabus, obviously aspiring for jobs in future. And no doubt Bengali has various opportunities in the job-field for future generation. Students pursuing Bengali as a subject can aspire to become a copy editor, proof reader, DTP operator or can work as a journalist apart from pursuing their career in teaching. In fact they can become creative writers, translators or can become content writers and copy writers.

But like various other languages of the world Bengali too has certain typical problems and nuances which are faced by the users of this language. Particularly the complicated rules of the Bengali language's spellings and scripts often act as an obstacle for the users. Keeping all these problems that are faced by the students, the Bengali Department of the college framed a coursework for total 30 hours comprising 15 classes, each of 2 hours duration over the above mentioned period. 30 students participated in these Add on Coursework by paying a meager fee of Rs. 300/-. The detailed framework of the coursework is given below along with few photographs taken during the progress of the coursework. The classes were taken by eminent personalities and professors.

7. DEPARTMENTAL TOURS:

If time permits the department tries to organize short educational tours for students to make the process of learning enjoyable. One such tour was led by Professor Dr. Sk. Makbul Islam to Gauriya Math for creating interest in the Bhakti movement.

8. DEPARTMENTAL PICNIC:

Taking time from the busy schedule of daily routine, the department tries to organize a departmental picnic every year where students and teachers can mingle and interact freely among themselves. Apart from merrymaking, fun and feasting in a new ambience, students joyfully participate in cultural activities. Such a picnic was held on 8th December 2023 with great enthusiasm.

9. PUBLICATION OF WALL MAGAZINE:

Normally every year the senior and junior students of the department take great enthusiasm in publishing and hanging their own wall magazine. They contribute their articles, poems and stories in the magazine. They decorate the wall and hang their very own magazine in an artistic manner.

10. DEPARTMENTAL REUNION:

Normally the Old Boy's Meet or the departmental reunion is held every year during winter. The aim of this meeting is to keep in touch with the pass out students and keep a tab on what they are doing and how their career is shaping up. There's also an endeavor to know how they can help the department to plan its courses for better career options..

11. PEER TEACHING: Peer teaching is a continuous process in the department to encourage the meritorious students to take classes of their fellow students. In this process they gain their confidence on the subjects that are taught by their professors in the class room.

12. The 3rd. Prithish Kumar Memorial Lecture:

Professor Prithish Kumar Mondal a very sincere former faculty member of the Bengali Department passed away in 2013 while still in service. Every year the Department tries to organize the Prithish Kumar Memorial Lecture to remember him and pay homage to his memory. This year the 3rd. Prithish Kumar Mondal Lecture was delivered by noted scholar Professor Sohini Ghosh of Vidyasagar College.
